

CHADSTONE PROJECT NEWS

FEBRUARY 2007

INTERNAL UPGRADES BEGIN

Construction work on upgrades to Chadstone Shopping Centre has commenced.

A new, lower-level loop mall is being built within the existing underground car park from the Reject shop entry to the rear of Toys R Us.

This stage will include the upgrade of mall tiling between the Kmart escalators and the Reject shop entry.

There is also a new surface-level car park and perimeter road being built on the old Catholic University site at the south-eastern corner of the shopping centre.

A new JB Hi-Fi store is the centrepiece of redevelopment work on the other side—opposite the AMF bowl.

Work on the widening and lowering of Middle Road is also commencing. This, and other minor road works will make access to the shopping centre and bypassing the centre much easier.

These projects involve changes to parking and traffic movement so please excuse any disruption to your shopping trips.

All large projects do create some disruption for local communities and we striving to keep this to a minimum. We value the goodwill of our local community and will do everything possible to retain the goodwill.

How Middle Road will look when road works are completed at the end of this year.

Below: the view looking west from Warrigal Road, and how Middle Road has looked until now. The bridge across Webster Street means that local residents will be able to drive north-south without encountering traffic going to or from the shopping centre.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO CHADSTONE

There will be even more choice available to shoppers at Chadstone, Australia's greatest shopping centre. When the current development is complete, there will be an additional 44 retailers offering fashion, services, and value products as diverse as telephony, leisure and sporting goods, personal care, pet products and memorabilia.

Every aspect of our new development has been planned to provide maximum comfort, access and shopper satisfaction.

There will be more car parking spaces available reinforcing our position as the leading centre in Australia for parking.

A new bus interchange which includes a passenger transit lounge will make public transport more accessible and convenient for public transport users.

Road improvements will make visiting and leaving easier and safer.

We are making Australia's greatest shopping centre even better!
